RAILWAY MAN FARMER NOW

O. O. Winter Leaves Grand Trunk
Pacific to Take Up Land.

HE HAS 10,000 ACRES

Farm Railway Manager Will Go Into Agriculture on a Huge Scale Near Goose Lake.

For the captain of industry, who has had under his supervision thousands of men, to leave the office from which he was wont to direct the humming progress of a hundred trains for the chance to live and "grow up" on a big farm in Canada where only the clucking of his motor plows recalls the railroads he commanded—this is a unique whim of destiny, or invention, as you will, and the man who is doing just that thing is doing it because he wants to, which marks him as a man of the "different" sort.

Formerly general superintendent on "Jim" Hill's pet road, the Great Northern, and later general manager of the Grand Trunk Pacific in Western Canada, O. O. Winter has at last abandoned the call of nature, and will leave Minneapolis within a few days for the Goose Lake district, Saskatchewan, to be general manager—not of miles upon miles of shining steel rails—but of furrow upon furrow of fertile lands.

Sixteen square miles, or 10,240 acres, will be his to "fiddle till" he bought a crop. Mr. Winter will be king of all he surveys, and of more than he can survey while standing in the midst of his kingdom, for the borders of it are beyond the reach of the eye.

The land is called the Welchen farm, and to Mr. Winter has been given the task of making it yield fruitfully the products of Canada.

Modern Machinery Used.

To this end the most modern methods of agriculture will be employed, and every facility will be afforded for "doing things" in the most approved fashion. Three monster traction engines for hauling, plowing or what not, will save 50 horses and the work of 20 men. From two in the morning until to night they will stir the bosom of Mother Earth with huge gangs that will plow together 100 acres in a day. The days are long up there, and the big iron horses will be given little rest till the crops are in. They will plow furrows a mile long, and will take in the distance around a section at each round. There will also be an automobile for general use, and all the other paraphernalia of the farm will be on the same scale of efficiency.

More Equipment and Better.

"More equipment and better" will be the keynote to the operation of this gigantic scheme. Mr. Winter will come with the wind, the rain and the sun, just as he has done in the past. But he will not be planning just how much the freeze is mellowing the upturned clods that must cradle the tiny embryos of the coming harvest. It will not be to the shriek of whistle and the clang of laughing bells that he will make his periodic trips of inspection. Only the whistle of the Canada quail and the song of the meadowlark in the morning will greet him with the cheery announcement that "all's well" on the big farm.

And in the knowledge of this contrast between the new and the old, that railroad man that was—the farmer that is—will be content.

WAS IT A MISTAKE?

Toronto Firm Didn't Get Contract and Says It Was.

The city is making a serious mistake in deciding to use concrete pipe for sewerage purposes. This is the statement made by the Hamilton and Toronto Sewer Pipe Co. in a letter sent to the mayor this morning.

The arrangement of the concrete pipe in what the letter said but the letter saying that it has been proven beyond doubt that the concrete is soluble in water, subject to injury by frost, that it will be affected by alkali in the earth and that it cannot stand the effect of sewage acids and gases.

At the city hall it is taken as a little kick because the firm in question did not get any of the contract, but Commissioner Burchart stated this morning that there was probably some truth in what the letter said but that it was too late to do anything now as the question had already been decided.

The sewer pipe company says that it cannot see why the city should decide to take such desperate chances, but they are still being taken and the best the letter will get is to be filed away.

The letter was written after the Toronto company had seen a verbatim report of the commissioners' meeting in copies of the local papers. This morning was the one at which the commissioners decided to recommend the using of the concrete pipe for all work in 1910.

COUNSEL GATHER FOR COMMISSION

Solicitors Taking Part in the Investigation Will be in the City Tonight or To-Morrow.

In preparation for the opening of the Waterways investigation again on Wednesday the legal talent engaged by the various parties and companies concerned are again returning to the city. Tonight Mr. Robson, who is looking after the interests of Mr. G. D. Minty, is expected to arrive in company with Mr. McKenzie of Regina, who is appearing for J. K. Cornwall, M.P.P.

Mr. Minty himself, together with Mr. W. R. Clarke, the president of the company, is expected here tomorrow or Wednesday morning and the counsel for the commission, Messrs. Walsh and Johnstone will also return tomorrow.

Mr. R. B. Bennett, the insurgent counsel, and Mr. P. J. Nolan, who is acting for the Premier, are also expected to arrive here tomorrow night, together with W. H. Cushing, the ex-minister of Public Works, who will be one of the first witnesses heard when the investigation reopens.

Another witness who will arrive during the week is Assistant Engineer Goddard of the Waterways Company, who will arrive as soon as he is able to travel. Mr. Goddard received by accident an operation in Winnipeg for appendicitis and would have been here for the previous sitting of the investigation but for this fact.

A dispatch from Calgary says that Mr. P. J. Nolan was threatened with an attack of pneumonia along with inflammatory rheumatism, but is reported better today.

HAWES CLAIMS A ONE-SIXTH INTEREST IN THE ALBERTA AND GREAT WATERWAYS OR $250,000 IN CASH AS SETTLEMENT

Toronto Man Claims That Transfer of his Interest in the Athabasca Railway Company is Not Binding on him Because he Was Not Informed That G. D. Minty Was Acting for Purchasers as Well as for the Plaintiff.

Alfred Hawes' writ against W. R. Clarke, J. K. Cornwall, G. D. Minty, the Canada West Construction Company, the Athabasca Railway Company and the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway Company was filed in the Alberta Supreme Court this morning by Henwood and Harrison, solicitors for Mr. Hawes of Toronto.

Mr. Hawes asks for: A declaration that he is interested to the extent of one-sixth in the charter, rights, etc., of the Athabasca Railway Company, the Canada West Construction Company, and the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway Company.

A declaration that he is entitled to one-sixth interest in the profits in connection with the incorporation, organization, construction and bonding of these undertakings in whatever form they may hereafter be received and of the profits arising from the sale of the bonds of any of the defendant companies.

An account and payment of the same.

An account from Mr. Cornwall of all the profits made by him in connection with any of the matters alleged in the statement of claim and a declaration that those profits belong to the syndicate and that the plaintiff is entitled to one-sixth interest thereon and the payment of that amount to the plaintiff.

A declaration that the renewal and extension option agreements and the pretended transfer of the plaintiff's rights in the syndicate obtained under circumstances herein set out were improperly obtained and that by reason of the change of circumstances and by reason of the use that has been made without authority of the plaintiff's syndicate interests the plaintiff is entitled to a one-sixth share of the benefits accruing from the syndicate in whatever form they may hereafter be received or agreed to be received by the defendants or any of them.

An injunction restraining the disclosure of any of the proceeds of the bonds of the A. and G. W. until Mr. Hawes' action has been tried and thereafter until the rights of the plaintiff have been settled and the proceeds paid over to him.

Damages from the defendant Minty by reason of the loss sustained by the plaintiff through the unauthorized extension and renewal agreements granted by the defendant Minty and by reason of the use made thereof.

In the alternative $250,000 damages for the wrongness complained of herein.

These claims are based chiefly on the allegation that Mr. Hawes was not informed of all the circumstances by Mr. Minty, and that the transfer of his (Mr. Hawes') interest made by Minty is therefore invalid.

Statement of Transactions.

The statement of claim says that in March, 1908, the plaintiff with J. K. Cornwall and eight others was the member of a syndicate which owned and controlled the charter of the Athabasca Railway and that his interest in the syndicate was one-sixth. Mr. Hawes' interest, the statement of claim says, represents cash actually paid out, while the twenty-five one-hundred-and-fortieths interest held in the syndicate by Mr. Cornwall represented no actual cash investment.

essential foundation for such negotiations," the statement sets out, "was the representation that the defendant Clarke and his associates had duly acquired and controlled the outstanding Dominion charter of the Athabasca Railway Company and all the rights of the syndicate."

Without admitting that the option given by him was ever legally binding, Mr. Hawes said that a renewal of the option was given by Minty until December, 1908, Minty not having disclosed to the plaintiff that he had accepted a retainer from Clarke and associates.

Clause 17 sets out: "Such extension of the option as far as the interest of the plaintiff is concerned was and is absolutely null and void by reason of the fact that in the written and telegraphic communications which passed between the said Minty and the plaintiff in regard to the said renewal of the option was given by the said Minty of the fact that he was representing and acting for the purchaser or of other material facts in connection with the matters hereinbefore mentioned all of which were within the knowledge of the said plaintiff."

It was during this renewal of this option, the statement sets forth, that the organization of the A. & G. W. railway was completed. Minty, it is said, extended the option on the Hawes interest to March 1, 1909, without any communication with Hawes. The option was taken up on March 1st, 1909, and under it Hawes received $300 as an allowance for expenses and a further sum of $420.

Claim Against Minty.

Clause 23 says: "The said Minty acting as solicitor not only charged the syndicate of which the plaintiff was a member for his services, but also claimed and was allowed by the said syndicate a commission for making the sale of the said Athabasca Ry. undertaking which became a complete success only on or about March 1st, 1909, such commission being $5,000 of stock in the Great Waterways Railway out of a block of $100,000 agreed to be divided between the members of the syndicate including the plaintiff and the defendant Cornwall."

Hawes alleges that this transfer is not binding on him because all the circumstances were not transmitted to him by Mr. Minty, whom, he supposed, was acting for him alone. On that ground he claims a one-sixth interest in all of the three defendant companies.

Clause 31 says: "The plaintiff further charges that the defendant Clarke has received a large share of the profits amounting to some $2,500 made on the sale of the bonds of the defendant A. & G. W. Railway Company, and asks that the defendant Clarke be compelled to account therefore to the plaintiff and to pay over to him his proper share thereof."

CITY HAS NOT LOST

But Appointment of Purchasing Agent is a Good Idea.

"We should and will have a city purchasing agent in the near future. We have been working up to this for a long time," said Commissioner Burchart this morning in referring to the articles in the press on the subject.

"However," he continued, "we are not losing any money as reported, even though we have no agent at present. Everything is looked after carefully and the city is getting the closest of prices on everything."

The system of buying as outlined by Mr. Burchart is to get prices on everything from local agents and also from the manufacturers direct.

"We have almost invariably been quoted the same prices from agents and manufacturers," he said, "especially in regard to cement. Where we find the prices are the same we place our orders through the resident agents who are taxpayers and citizens of the town; where they are not the same we place them with the manufacturer. In many cases agents who handle cement are only too glad to quote the city as cheap a price as the factory would as having ordered large stocks; they are willing to let them go at cost sooner than keep them on hand and have their money tied up in this way."

Winnipeg Labor Troubles.

Winnipeg, April 11.—A conference was held on Saturday between the master tailors and four hundred employees who are on strike for an increase of wages. As no agreement was reached the master tailors have now declared for an open shop. The painters and paperhangers are demanding an increase to 40 cents an hour instead of 30.

Prominent American Astronomer Says That Much Heralded Comet Will be Spectacular but Harmless.

Washington, April 11.—Halley's comet was seen here yesterday for the first time by Prof. Hall of the Naval Observatory and his assistant through a 26-inch telescope. For about fifteen minutes the comet remained visible to the naked eye. Popular apprehensions regarding the harm to the earth and its inhabitants during the visit of the comet to this part of the universe is unfounded. The tail of the comet through which the earth probably will pass will be noticeable only as an absolutely harmless illuminating gas or dust. It may produce electrical and magnetic effects that can be detected only by self-recording instruments.

IT'S UP TO THE ALBERTAN

The Calgary Albertan uses some strong language in reference to the Capital. When we analyze what it says we find that it reaches its distinctly unfavorable opinion of this newspaper because "it can look upon this bond transaction where some promoters enriched themselves lavishly out of the money which should have gone to the province, and rejoices in the spectacle."

If the Albertan editor knows that these promoters pulled off this deal, again we ask him why he doesn't come before the judicial commission and tell what he knows about the transaction? Up to the present, neither the Albertan nor anyone else has volunteered one title of evidence in support of such a charge. In our view of the venerable Capital contemporary, which is at such pains to assure its readers that the Capital is a very young member of the journalistic family of the province, we go so far, when the debate in the legislature was finished, to state that it was pleased to state no evidence of graft had been shown. But if such a deal as it has been dwelling upon at such length isn't graft, what is? It is clearly up to the Albertan to come forward and tell what it knows. Till it does, it has not the privilege of attacking those who decline on its mere say-so to believe that men, whose reputation in Alberta has been unquestioned, are guilty of the scoundrelly actions that it ascribes to them.

The Albertan says further: "The Edmonton Capital attempts to make itself believe that the people endorsed the A. & G. W. deal at the last election. That is not true. The A. & G. W. bill was not printed at the last election time, and certainly not circulated throughout the province. The last word that the people of this province had upon it was the utterance of a remark made in the house by Premier Rutherford that the bonus of $30,000 a mile upon the road was the maximum, and the minimum was very much less. That was the last word and practically the only word that the public had about this railway at the last election time. The fact of the matter is that they were so busy approving of the railways that ran into old Alberta that they did not even consider the railway that ran to Fort McMurray, and the details of it were hidden away so that it was impossible to get at them even if any person desired enlightenment."

The A. & G. W. agreement stood in exactly the same position at the last election as those with the Canadian Northern and the Grand Trunk Pacific. The three constituted a definite railway policy on which the government appealed to the country and which received emphatic endorsement at the hands of the electors. The A. & G. W. bill was printed and available to quite the same extent as were the other bills. The bargain was discussed and criticized by Mr. Bennett in Calgary and Mr. Ewing in Edmonton. Why did not the Albertan publish anything about them at the time instead of shouting "Rutherford and Railways?" That cry included the A. & G. W. quite as much as it did the C. N. R. and G. T. P. lines to Calgary. There was no "hiding away" of details. The Albertan could have obtained the complete information as to one part of the railway programme as to another. Now it says that the people "were too busy approving of the railways that ran into old Alberta (that is those which ran into Calgary) that they did not even consider the railway that ran to Fort McMurray." But if the Albertan did not consider this last line, if it was satisfied so long as its city secured the roads that it was counting on, what about those who were not directly interested in the latter but were very much interested in the former? They did not oppose the building of the roads "into old Alberta." All they asked was that all ed fairly. But when they find the C. N. R. and the G. T. P. constructed for a considerable distance towards Calgary, they are naturally indignant when a Calgary paper turns out and tries to prevent the carrying out of that part of the railway policy which will do most to advance their interests.

How anyone could give the meaning to Premier Rutherford's statement that the Albertan does is difficult to understand. Any such remark would necessarily apply to all three railways included in the government's policy. With the election won, the C. N. R. and the G. T. P. came to the government and said they were prepared to build to Calgary on the terms agreed upon. Suppose that the ministers had truly turned to them and said: "It is true that we passed the legislation authorizing a guarantee of $13,000 per mile on your lines, but such legislation was purely permissive. After all, we don't think that we shall guarantee you for more than $8,000." The lines would have been built if they had taken this action and it is not difficult to imagine the howl that would have come from the sections affected. The Albertan would have devoted its front and editorial pages for weeks to denouncing the perpetrators of the outrage. Yet this would have been not one whit less a breaking of faith than similar action in reference to the A. & G. W. So long as the government was assured that the road would be sufficiently valuable to afford any security for the guarantee it had absolutely no alternative but to carry out the agreement, which was part of its election platform.

The Bawlin Sun says: "The Edmonton Capital thinks the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway deal should not have been attacked so hard as to cast any reflection on the future prospects of Edmonton as the metropolitan centre of Alberta, nor in any wise disturb the status of the expected prosperity which was sure to result to the renown of the Capital City in the ultimate completion of the A. & G. W. No matter whether the deal was a good one or not throughout from the standpoint of the cost to the ratepayers of the province at large, of course it would have given Edmonton a boost."

We are not asking something that will not benefit the whole province. But no one questions that the city which will profit most from the project is Edmonton.

The Vermilion Signal refers to Mr. Boyle as "a very prominent member of the provincial government." Not yet, nor soon!

Mr. J. E. Proctor, C. P. R. passenger agent for this district, is to be moved to Brandon. Mr. Proctor has been a most capable and obliging official and has done much to make friends for his company as well as himself during the period in which he has had headquarters in Calgary.

The Medicine Hat News announces the early publication of a daily paper, Mr. Forster's many newspaper friends will wish him the best of good fortune. His weekly has been one of the best in the country, both from a news and an editorial standpoint, and it will not be his fault if the new venture doesn't prove a distinct success. Alberta is coming along journalistically. With the establishment of a second daily in Lethbridge, the total number will be brought up to nine.

What Others Say

Put Coal There Himself

(Toronto Star)

The reported discovery of coal in Northern Ontario has recalled to the minds of some of the older residents the excitement that prevailed throughout the province forty years ago when it was reported that coal had been found in Bowmanville.

At that time, it appears an Old Country miner stirred up the interest of residents of Bowmanville by declaring that the rock and soil formations about the town were indicative of the presence of coal. Money was put up for the purpose of exploration, and a shaft was sunk a distance of two hundred feet or more. One morning the announcement was made that coal had at last been struck, and the excitement was intense. Jubilation became the order of the day. Flags were hoisted and the excitement was indescribable. It lasted for several days and members of the government interested themselves in the good news which seems to have been pretty generally believed all over the country. The government mineralogist of that time, Mr. Logan, had reported that there was no coal anywhere. But when they find the C. N. R. and the G. T. P. constructed for a considerable distance towards Calgary, they are naturally indignant when a Calgary paper turns out and tries to prevent the carrying out of that part of the railway policy which will do most to advance their interests.

SOME INNER HISTORY.

Olds Gazette.

Obviously the cause of the trouble was the Alberta and Great Waterways agreement. Obviously so, we say, for as the inner history of the instruction comes to light, other motives are apparent. Insurance apparently was hatching before the Alberta and Great Waterways agreement was concluded.

A peculiar situation was at once created. Members of the legislature, who as candidates for political honors in 1909 landed the government's railway policy including the project of the Alberta & Great Waterways, suddenly became critical, even skeptical, and finally violently opposed to the government they were elected to support and whose record during the last four years elected those men to parliament. It was a situation the study of which is extremely interesting to the politician or student of human affairs.

The railway attacked from every point of view. The country through which the railway is to run was declared to be without resources. The road, it is said would not pay for the axle grease. Similar language was used years ago to describe the country through which the C. P. R. was being built. The history of the last twenty-five years has shown that this statement with respect to the country traversed by the C. P. R. was a foolish and ignorant lie. History will be repeated in the case of the country through which the A. & G. W. will be built. Even the Edmonton Bulletin has loaned itself to such unwisdom. Any who doubt the wealth of Alberta's Northland should study the report of the Senate of Canada prepared from the evidence of explorers, frontiersmen, geologists, surveyors and old-timers, and published under the title "Canada's Fertile Northland."

Mr. Frank Oliver, as minister of the interior, speaking in the pages of this work, contradicts himself as editor of his personal organ, the Edmonton Bulletin. Mr. Boyle, whose constituency comprises a large portion of the country to be served by this railway, refrained from denouncing the country. But Mr. Bennett, the twin oppositionist with Mr. Boyle, was at the authority of his great learning in railway economics to attempt to prove the road would fail on account of the poverty of the country. Unfortunately, public opinion in some quarters has been influenced by such misrepresentations. The truth is that some of the people of this province are not aware of the natural wealth that lies awaiting development in the northern portion of Alberta. It is not the first time that his country has suffered from the error of despising its resources. Canada would be many thousands of square miles in area if public men had been less indifferent.

King Menelik is dead. It is said. But no tears. We'll pause to shed. And no eulogy. We'll spring on the king. Till his death certificate. With the cause Of death and date Comes to hand; Understand, We'll not shed A single tear Or sentence For his bier. Of death Gets here.

SUNNY ALBERTA

at all.

It is the spring is an augury of what the season is to be this district should garner the best crop in its history. Reports from different points are that the land is in splendid condition, wheat seeding well under way and plowing going ahead with a swing. Everyone is putting as large an acreage as possible to wheat and the season is yet early it may reasonably be expected that nearly 75 per cent. of the land will be cropped to wheat—Vermilion Standard.

The beginning of the week saw the work of grading on the G. T. P. begun thirteen miles north of Lamerton, and new gangs of men have been put on daily cutting brush along the right of way, preparing it for the different sub-contractors to get to work at once. When seen on Tuesday evening in regard to a rumor that the survey would be changed to a point two miles east of Alex. Mr. Webster, who has the contract for the grading and Mr. Adams, the right of way buyer, both denied that there was any foundation to this report, and said that the line would not deviate ten rods from the present survey, which runs through the east side of the town. The company have experienced little difficulty in obtaining right of way at the price offered—twenty dollars per acre for all wild land and twenty-five dollars per acre for cultivated land—Alex Free Press.

The Calgary Albertan says: "The Western Canadian Land and Coal Company, which runs the Eschaw works, is in financial difficulties, and the plant is passing into the hands of a receiver, who will be appointed in a few days. The debenture holders and bond holders will continue to run the plant as before, and no change will be made in the outside working of the institution."

Wainwright will apply for incorporation as a town.

The death took place in Plainsville, Minn., as the result of an operation of James Clark, for five years a well-known resident of Claresholm, where he conducted a general store.

On Tuesday morning, Mr. Aspinall, acting secretary-treasurer of the town of Innisfail, received the following telegram:

This, we presume, is the selection made by the government, represented by the governor in council, of "persons to fill the vacancies existing" in the Innisfail council.

Mr. J. C. McGregor, chief engineer of the Alberta Central, and Mrs. McGregor returned on Tuesday night from the east. Mr. McGregor's household effects are following, and will secure a private residence. Mr. McGregor, as usual, is noncommittal as to when the Alberta Central will start construction, but he goes so far as to say that matters are progressing favorably as far as he knows though of course, it takes time to get things in shape.—Red Deer Advocate.

Besides Mr. Williams' long reign of eight and a half days, night and day, at the Dominion Lands office door at Red Deer, in order to enter for a cancelled letter under Erskine, the Red Deer office has another record. Mr. Euclid Bonneyer, of New York, took up his station at the door on Friday morning, April 1, and will stay with the game until Monday morning, April 11, a stay of ten days, night and day. He is after a quarter east of Pine Lake. Geo. C. Adams put in four and a half days last week for the right to purchase at $3 an acre a homestead up Hardyway.—Red Deer Advocate.

PLAYERS HAD A WORK-OUT

Mills, Barnstead, Grady, Deeton and a Number of Amateurs Burned up the Turf at Diamond Park.

Diamond park had quite a mid-morning appearance on Saturday. The diamond is dry and fairly smooth and with a little more of this weather no better training ground could be found. The bleachers have been re-covered and some real soft seats put in them. But who cares if the seats are hard, when the game is close?

Barnstead, Mills and Grady of the regulars were on the job and put in a couple of hours practice in batting and running out bunts. Harold Deeton, formerly the pride of Wetaskiwin, was on the job, and also Sherry Campbell.

In one corner of the field a number of lacrosse players were getting in some fine work. The lacrosse club, at present, is in the unfortunate position of being without permanent grounds, but it is hoped something definite can be done this week towards getting some accommodation.

Grady, Mills and Barnstead will work out steadily until the rest of the team reports on April 15. Barny looks in good shape, and expects to take his regular turn in the box with the best of them. Mills is a stockily built chap, weighing about 170 lbs. and covers a lot of ground around third base. He is quite a hitter and meets the ball hard, driving it on a line. Jack Grady is in fine shape and was bending them over on Saturday with that old familiar motion. Grady also beat out some bunts in fine style. Once he got to first in two strikes, but had to exert himself a wee, wee little bit to make the beat.

Mr. Fuller arrived on the scene about 4 p.m., and gave a little exhibition of batting which was highly appreciated by the rail birds.

HOW MOOSE WAS NAMED

Some Stories About the New Edmonton First Baseman—Also how he Lost his Hundred.

Quite a little fanning bee took place at Diamond park on Saturday at the completion of the baseball practice. There were assembled, "Garry," Alf, Fidler, Harold Deeton and a well-known clergyman, who is heavily interested in clean sport. The talk was all about the early days of baseball in Alberta, and these four fans had all played against one another at different times. The old games for the Brewery were on, and Moose, a large crowd was on hand to see the game.

Moore was named. Moose was rather a free agent in those days and would play with an team that paid the price. It is said he used to make a handsome sum by his playing. But one time he lost out. When he signed up at the beginning of the season, Moose demanded a hundred dollars. Well, the club acceded to this; but under the conditions that it should not be paid over to him until the season was over. Baxter was agreeable, so small great ceremony, a cheque was drawn up for 100 for men, and deposited in the baseball club's safe. When the time came to get his cheque, Moose marched over, got his cheque from the safe and made for the bank. But what a sorry welcome awaited the new first baseman. The teller threw the piece of paper back, with the terse reply "No funds." This was one that Moose lost out on the money question. But what does he care now for a paltry cent, when he can get veridicals for $5000 from railways.

The question of how Moose got his nickname came up and was explained thusly. He is quite a kicker and when running over to argue a decision holds his hands up in a characteristic manner. Aided by a rather prominent nose, this gives him a strange appearance. A cartoonist in San Francisco drew a picture of him, and instead of the hands, put moose antlers, and the name has stuck to him ever since.

CALLIES VS. THE ST. GEORGES

City Champions Won a Practice Match on Friday Evening by 3 to 1—Score at Interval, 2-0.

On the exhibition grounds the above teams met in a friendly game. The Callies were the first to open the score. From a pass from Christie, Finlay, the new centre, batted the leather through with a lovely low shot. After a few minutes' play, the Callies again led the match, Christie being the hero this time. From the wing he put in a wicked shot which the goal-keeper had no chance of saving. The interval came with the Callies leading by two goals.

After the teams had turned around, the St. Georges got busy and bombarded their opponent's goal. They had hard lines in not scoring for they surely deserved a goal. But luck was against them. They had a fancy to "kiss" the ball too much to make head-way. The Callies, after some fine work, on the part of their full backs, got going and gained a corner. Christie took the kick and landed the ball right in the St. George's goal; A. Todd, the crack centre of last year's champions, headed the ball through.

The St. Georges forwards, who motched the Callies' goal, and Davis, from a difficult angle, batted the ball in. Orr, the goal tender, in trying to save, kicked the leather against one of the St. Georges forwards, who motched the ball. The light was fading and the players were beginning to feel the effects of their forty minutes' work. The Callies' new blood showed up well, there being only two men of last year's team, Todd and Hope, on the line-up. So from the results of Friday's game, the Callies have made good.

We also noticed a number of new men on the St. George's line-up, who showed an excellent knowledge of the game. There is no doubt league football will be much faster this year, and it seems a pity the teams have no regular grounds to play their matches on. With so many Edmontonians taking a keen interest in Association football, some provision should be made to provide suitable playing fields for them.

JEFFRIES OUT-RUNS HIS TRAINER

The Big Fellow is in the Pink and is Giving Berger and Farmer Burns a Hard Run—Is Expecting Chynowski

Ben Ledonne, Cal., April 11.—A course of special training for Jim Jeffries' trainers may be necessary if they hope to keep pace with the big fighters. The need of this has already been repeatedly shown and yesterday an instance of Jeffries' lead in condition or his followers was had when with Sam Berger and Burns he took a ten-mile jaunt. After doing ten miles, Berger cried, "Old Ironsides," as they call Burns, managed to hold out though and he was naughtily impressed with Jeffries' showing. "He ran clear two miles at one stretch," said Burns, "and he also sprinted shorter distances. He is the most wonderful man on the road I ever tramped with. The strange thing about him is that he seems to get over the faster open going in the last few miles of the race on the level." His first open air siesta was taken by Jeffries on the porch of his cottage during afternoon. This was introductory to sleeping out of doors at night. Jeffries wanted to begin his practice on arrival here, but was ordered to wait until he had become thoroughly acclimated. The first untoward mark in Jeffries' physical trim yet indicated is the shoulder stiffness caused by too much and too violent handball. To overcome this, a remarkable ungut, fierce enough it is remarked, to clear brass statuary with, will be applied to the fighter's stiff limbs. Jeffries requires, it is said, a more piercing rub down preparation than most ring men. The latest news coming out of the camp is to the effect that Joe Chynowski is to be rushed to California as soon as he can be there to act as one of the sparring partners.

NEW YORK GIANTS ARE IN COTHEM

Muggsy McGraw and his Insignificant Band of 44 Players Get a Hearty Welcome.

New York, April 11.—First of the major leagues from the northern belt of the eastern circuit to return to its native heath, the New York National League team, reached home today from Baltimore. The players stepped from the cars into a frigid atmosphere, but were met by a cheering throng and general sympathy, but hoped for warmer weather tomorrow when the team will open the season at the Polo grounds in a game with Yale University. Forty four men in all were in the party of returning travellers, but a large crowd was on hand to welcome the men and they were heartily cheered as they left the train.

AN EDMONTON MAN'S DREAM

Do you believe in dreams? If so, hurry and get a bet down on Jeffries before the odds get any shorter. A well known club man here, after supping well the other evening, retired to his downy couch and there dreamed a dream. It was July 4, 1910, and he was at Emeryville race-track and the big fight was in progress. In the early part of the night, Jeffries landed the smoke all over the ring and had the fight well in his own way. Then, for some unaccountable reason, our dreaming friend left the arena. (Probably he had bet on Johnson) but when he reached the street, the newsies were yelling "Extra, Extra." It is rumored Jeffries has beaten Johnson! and then the dreamer awoke. Is this an omen?

IRISH CANADIANS HAVE A PRACTICE

The Irish Canadian baseball club had a working out on Saturday afternoon at the Second street grounds. They have corralled a likely looking bunch of amateurs and promise to give a good account of themselves in the city baseball league.

No guns and no booze! Gee! This Jack-Jim argument is to be a tea meeting affair.

STAR PITCHER HAS SIGNED

The North-Western League Star Who Won 27 Games With Tacoma has Accepted Edmonton's Terms.

Deacon White is at the coast by now, and probably scurrying around on the lookout for players, as a letter was received on Saturday, asking to have a number of blank contracts sent to the Cecil Hotel, Seattle.

During his absence a number of players have sent in word that they will be on hand when reporting time comes around. The Northwestern league pitcher who had the phenomenal record of 27 wins and only 13 defeats in Tacoma in 1909 has accepted terms. He writes that he is pleased with the salary offered and is in the best shape he has ever experienced. He also recommends an infidel, but Deacon has just about his full quota of base guardians.

Kil Brinsio, who is dicker with Edmonton and Calgary, places rather a large value on his services. The kid would have a hard time making a place on the Edmonton infield, and it is probable Carney will be allowed to sign Brinsio.

A letter was received from Lee Samuels and he will probably not be alone until about two weeks after the season commences. He has signed with the Reardon team for one month, and is right at it now. Samuels had a talk with Morrell and says the recalcitrant outfielder seems determined to remain out of the game this season. This is not very pleasing news for us, as we were hoping against hope, that Morrell might change his mind at the last moment. Deacon will see Morrell when he is at the coast and use his persuasive powers.

Lee Wolfe, whom Deacon was negotiating with, has signed a Calgary contract, and Carney has certainly signed up a classy player. The Cowpunchers have also been given Whaling the catcher by Dugdale, the Seattle magnate. This means Whaling is a finished receiver, and Deacon was hopeful of signing him up.

Howard Speck, Dewey, Wise, writes, asking for a trial. He says he is a total abstinent and has numerous offers from other teams. Edmonton is not in a position to avail themselves of his services.

As the team reports on Friday, the Deacon will probably land back on Wednesday. All the transportation has been sent out.

The Delahantys

Of the Delahanty family, which at one time played an important part in big league baseball, there remains only one of the sons. He is Jim Delahanty, of the Detroit American league team. Ed Delahanty, who gained fame as a batsman with the Philadelphia Nationals some years ago, is dead; Tom, who played with the Tigers, forsok the diamond for business in Cleveland; Joe is with the Toronto Eastern league team; Frank is playing with Indianapolis, and Willie is a stay-at-home. The father of the six is a coal dealer.

JOHN KLING JOINS THE CUBS

Reported to Chance Yesterday at Columbus—Says he will Regain His Old Form in Ten Days.

Kansas City, April 9.—At last the case of John G. Kling the catcher of the Chicago National league baseball club, appears to be at an end. "To-day Kling received a message from President Charles V. Murphy, ordering the player to report at Indianapolis on April 6 or 7.

It will be impossible for Kling to leave here tomorrow, but he said tonight he would telegraph Murphy he would join the team in Columbus, April 10.

"It's a great day for me," said Kling tonight. "I'm happier now than I've been any day since I caught the final game in the championship series in New York in October 1908.

"Can I come back? Say, that question makes me laugh. I know that I shall be able to regain my old form within ten days after I join the squad. April 22, when officers for the year end of the catching for the team. Just watch me come back."

OLDFIELD LOWERS ANOTHER RECORD

In a 200 Horse-Power Machine the Speed Merchant Went a Mile in 36.22 Secs.—All Records Broken

Playford Rey, Calif., April 10.—Smashing of many speed records today marked the opening of the automobile here. Every world's record for one mile track from one to a hundred miles was broken and five national marks were lowered in the trials and free for all contests. In addition the national records new marks were also set in the stock car events.

Geo. Robertson, with his big Simplex finished ten miles in 6:47.3. Strange's mark at Atlanta for this distance was 7:07.94. Oldfield turned loose his 200 horse power machine for mile in 36.22 seconds. Ralph De Palma in his 100 horse power Fiat cut down the 15 mile mark to 8:15.2; he was followed by Ben Kirshe Or who cut the two mile record to 1:18.29 in Darraq. The sensational driver of the day was made by Oldfield. The five mile free for all proved a thriller with De Palma in the Fiat 90, and Robertson in the Simplex racer, leading for almost the entire distance. The Italian won by a scant length in 3:16.40. The 100 mile was a fight between Harrons Marmion and Eiers Dorris, the cars were lapped for 95 of 100 miles. The race was won in 4:25.22. One mile was 4:46.12 off his own record made at Atlanta in the 10 mile race for stock cars with 16.20 displacement; Endicott in a Cole, won in 9:03.25. The former record was 9:49.46, made at Atlanta.

BRANDON OPENS AT WINNIPEG

By President Blackburn's Draft Schedule, Maroons Get 65 Home Games—Peg Wants a Business Manager.

Winnipeg, April 9.—A visit to the River park baseball grounds yesterday afternoon gave one a good idea of the accommodation the fans will receive this year. Manager Lohr and President Blackburn of the Winnipeg baseball club were out and planning things for the season's opening, while a number of workmen were busy with saw and hammer on the new grand stand and bleachers which are fast nearing completion. The grand stand should be plenty large enough to handle everybody on week days and Saturdays, but it is hardly likely it will do on holidays. The old stand has been remodeled, while large additions have been made to each side of it. The seats will have comfortable backs and the baseball bag should be able to sit in peace and munch his peanuts and cheer his favorite team. The bleachers are certainly sun ones for fair. They are very high and will give all those who sit on them a good chance of seeing the play just as good as from the grand stand.

The Winnipeg baseball club is negotiating with a good live business manager to look after the affairs of the club. Lohr is doing the business end of it just now, but as soon as the players report he will be too busy to bother with anything else. Mr. Blackburn says that the man he has in view should fill the position acceptably. Lohr announces that an outfielder from the coast wants to get a try out and he has been sent a contract to sign.

The Maroons may not report here for practice until Monday, April 18, as President Blackburn has not decided whether to send them a call to reach here on April 15 as originally planned. The check-up communication with President Stanley of the Alberta Lacrosse association. The president stated that he was in communication with the various organized clubs to decide upon a date for the league meeting.

Yesterday the Calgary lacrosse club was in telephone communication with the Edmonton lacrosse club to write up with regard to arranging a game between the two clubs at an early date. As we played up in Calgary last fall there is a return game here due, and I would like you to tell me what the chances are for a game in Edmonton some time soon.

We were unfortunate last year in not being able to arrange any games here and therefore wish to get a match in this city, as a good game seems to be the only hope of bringing lacrosse here this year.

Thanking you in anticipation of an early reply. Yours truly, W. L. WAUGH.

Secretary Edmonton Lacrosse Club.

It is possible the Calgary club will go to Edmonton on a guarantee of home and home games. The above letter states that Calgary owns a slight error. Last year Edmonton played Calgary here while on a tour and were paid expenses. Three seasons ago Edmonton scratched a league game in Calgary, after the locals played in Edmonton, so that Calgary is not owing Edmonton any game.

Apart from this, Allan McDonnell stated that the club would take up the communication and try to arrange a couple of exhibition games.

LARRY McLEAN, THE HOLD-OUT

Some of the Big Catcher's Playful Tricks—Used to Throw Buckshot in the Eyes of the Spectators.

Worcester, Mass., April 8.—So Larry McLean, the catcher with the giant physique and dwarf's disposition, broke loose from his moorings once more! Big Larry played here on the Worcester eastern league club some ten years ago, and while he certainly showed class in the catching department, his habits earned his release. McLean had a childish habit of throwing birdshot from between his teeth into any one's face who happened to be within firing distance. Mac did that one day to a sporting writer who is now on one of New York's largest papers, and the said sporting writer did put it into Mac in a most beautiful manner. We people here in this old New England burg regard it as a joke when we read that Larry McLean has designs on the title of champion boxer of the big leagues. The papers tell us that the big fellow wants to mill with Charley Schmidt, the Detroit, and also with Frank Smith, of the Sox. Don't do it, Mac, don't do it!

At least two other men playing professional ball today can assure the Cincinnati backdrop a torrid time in the squared circle. Big Andy Anderson, now with Providence, or Andy Owens, with the White Sox, make no boast of their prowess, but both of these men are "there." If Larry McLean should be sold or traded to New York, who would envy McGraw's job, with Mac and Bugs Raymond on his hands—Outcurve, in Sporting News.

Ira Thomas, Joker

Ira Thomas pulled off a warm one on Jack Coombs, during one of the Atlanta games where the big fellow twirled. Jack hit a little teaser in front of the plate and started for first. Ira was on the bag and made a second on the play. As Coombs ran down the line one of the Atlanta bleacherites yelled "Foul!" The big pitcher stopped and was thrown out easily at first. Ira looked at him for a minute in disgust, and then yelled, "Will you ever stop being a farm-er?"

DEACON WHITE IN CALGARY

Found Time, When Passing Through to Say a Few Words to the Alberta—Is Rather Sore About Lee Wolfe

Calgary, April 9.—Deacon White, the chief of the Esquimaux, was in town yesterday on his way to Seattle to get a few more champions for his baseball team. The Deacon has been scouting for players with his typewriter and the business end of a telegraph key, but he has come to the conclusion that that kind of a battle has its limitations. So, bucking on his belt and the war feathers and leaving the wigwag in the hands of the chief of the rosters' club, he is now hiking hot-foot for the place where baseball players grow on bushes.

The Deacon—He is not really a deacon, you know, at least not a church deacon, but he has got that name because his ways are so exceptionally childlike and has come to the very hopeful and exceptionally happy. Yes, he has had a wonderful ball team. It would take the reef out of any of the coast teams. Probably a little better than the coast teams. Yes, Edmonton was giving him great support and baseball fans was talking louder and oftener and much more hopefully than the Edmonton politician.

Then there was one little incident, which rather put a dent in the Deacon's good humor. It was a little strip of paper upon which they print things of a telegraph office that causes the unhappiness—a boy with a braided cap gave it to him. When he received it he made a very undeckonike remark.

He explained, however, that he had good cause and hoped to be forgiven, but that man, Bill Carney, had landed Lee Wolfe, one of the best outfielders in the business. The deacon had intended that Lee should cover one of the far-away icebergs and here he had gone and signed with Carney, which was just committing the unpardonable sin. That sort of made the Esquima outfield look like an ice floe.

"We had been tumbling over one another all along," Carney tried to put me to Moose Baxter and Lussli, but I have them both signed up and nailed down. Wolfe is as good an outfielder as you will have in Alberta this summer. I am sorry to lose him.

"In Edmonton they are baseball crazy, and we will have the support equal to any club on the circuit. All the clubs will be fifteen per cent. stronger this year, consequently the ball will be that much faster and better. From press reports, Deacon thinks Winnipeg will have to go soon. They will have mostly all last year's players. That team, although landing second, was no better than any of the other first division clubs, so if they are fifty per cent. stronger this year, the Deacon fails to see where Winnipeg will get off.

"We are going to try and try for that pennant," he said. "We will land around the top and can beat anything on the first division. There will be one day to try with the Alberta clubs. All four will be strong and some great games will be played between them."

Deacon thinks Carney will land here with a great team, one that will take some beating.

NORWOOD ATHLETIC CLUB

Norwood Athletic Club held large and enthusiastic meeting in the Odd-fellow's Hall, Norwood, on Friday evening. The members are going in for football and football with great gusto, and those unsuccessful in making slices on the team will turn out to cheer their club mate to victory. Football practices will be held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday evening at the Chas. Taylor park, near the car barns. The baseball team has its full quota signed up, and expects to even better in this year's city league schedule than before. As Norwood finished second last season, it is surmised they are out after the pennant.

Yesterday the Calgary lacrosse club was in telephone communication with the Edmonton lacrosse club to write up with regard to arranging a game between the two clubs at an early date. As we played up in Calgary last fall there is a return game here due, and I would like you to tell me what the chances are for a game in Edmonton some time soon.

WHAT THEY SAY, &amp; WHAT THEY MEAN

Are Two Different Matters.—This Article Shows That Baseball Managers Don't Tell the Press Everything

In the newspaper columns the manager said:

"There is nothing we can keep us from doing. We've signed young Adair, of the Ferguson team, a pitcher of wonderful power and steam, of perfect control and changeable speed, a peach, a phenom, and a marvel indeed!"

But here's how he spoke to young Johnny Adair:

"Get busy, you muck! Quitter fan! The air! You ain't in no game on the old league lot! This ain't no peaceful 'n' pastoral spot where the sweet little maidens say 'Isn't he grand!' when you come to the plate with the sick in your hand."

"Who said you could pitch? Say, who taught you to throw? Don't stand there 'n' crotch 'n' there 'n' subin' you know. To think that I paid out good money to buy a muddled Rubel with an arm like a fly!"

In the newspaper columns the manager said:

"The days of the batting of umpires are fled. My men have offended, and in the past, but now we have struck a new era at last. The umpire shall never be baited again; at least I can promise you none of my men will ever be heard with a rowdyish vein to abuse at the umpire or quarrel with him."

But here's how he spoke in a sub-segment, game:

"Go on, you big brute, that decision's a frame! Ye're rotten, ye're here, ye're a boob, ye're a lime; to make you an ump' was a sin 'n' a crime! You talk like an oyster, you act like a yarp! I'd a good mind to call you one on the trap. You rob! You yeagman! Ye're fearful, ye're rank, ye're proper profession is robbin' a bank!"

In the newspaper columns the manager said:

"The reactions that racked us a foretelling and dead. The team and the people, the owner and I, are working together for purpose high. Our fights are forgotten, and people can see that what we've achieved is a close harmony. The failures and quarrels that latter's are done, and we're after the present—it's got to be won!"

But here's how he spoke to a comrade of his:

"He heart is fair broke and I'm put on the friz! The owner keeps bittin' in day after day. The players are skin' for twice as much pay, the captain's a scream with a brain like a ham, the outfit does nothin' but knock me kersham! The pitcher can't pitch at the catcher's a munt, the fielders are better than usual—BUT!—The tie-up men graft and the treasurer steals! I'm worn to a frazzle, I can't eat my meals. It's nothing but jangle and wrangle and yell—did somebody say 'harmony'? Harmony—He'll!—Ber-ton He'll in Puck."

LINE-UP FOR OPENING GAME

Hugh Jennings and Jim McGuire Have Picked Their Teams for American League Opening on Thursday.

West Point, Miss., April 11.—Hugh Jennings and Jim McGuire have practically decided how their teams will line up at Bennett park on April 14. The probable batting order for the latter's team is Joe Hamilton, whom Hal Chase has pronounced a star shortstop and who is to come to the New York Americans in due time if he shows the quality.

The Medicine Hat team won the pennant in the Twilight League last year, with a percentage of .083, and Hulen writes that he has a much faster team this year.

Jack Johnson says that "if everybody were like him this would be a good world." It sure would; a peach of a world—if you look at it that way.

Jeffries is the Favorite.

New York, Monday, April 11.—Betting on the Jeffries-Johnson fight started in earnest here tonight with the deposit of $2000 against $400 that the former champion would beat the negro on July 4. There has been some watering behind this bet was made, of course, but the posting of $400 was the first real evidence that odds were going in favor of Jeff for some time to come.

Clarence Berry, of Los Angeles, at one time a prominent Klondike miner and now interested in the oil fields of California, stated that he had $500,000 to bet on Jeff, at any price. Berry was reasonable. Charles Sutor, $200,000 of San Francisco, quickly took $500,000 of it at odds of seven to ten and then announced that he would have as much more to bet soon.

A HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS IN STEINWAY PIANOS.

The pianos which have been made and sold by Steinway & Sons up to date represent the stupendous total of over one hundred million dollars.

Not only throughout this broad land of ours but in every nook and corner of the globe where good music is prized can be heard the voice of the Steinway Piano—the piano of all pianos, the piano that is universally recognized as the world's standard.

In the palaces of kings and emperors as well as in the homes of musicians of renown everywhere, you will see and hear the Steinway Piano.

The Steinway Piano is not only for the wealthy. The fact that it has found an abiding place in more than 12,000 homes of all classes of music-lovers bears eloquent testimony to the contrary.

Steinway Pianos are not sold by fake methods or by gold-brick—misleading inducements.

Steinway & Sons are the only piano manufacturers who make every component part of their pianos, including the casting of all the metal parts, within their own factories.

The elder Steinways, the founders of the house, were men of high standards, original ideas, and irresistible ambition, whose correct theories, applied with jealous care, finally became crystallized as Steinway traditions. These have shaped the Steinway Piano in every department of artistry.

It is the masterly blending of piano tone, the subtle nuances, the appealing, sensuous quality combined with brilliancy and power, that impart to the Steinway Piano its supreme individuality.

Catalogues of these famous Pianos mailed on application to the Sole North-Western Representative, Mr. Geo. H. Suckling, Harmony Hall, 235-237 Rice St., Edmonton.

SPARKLETS

Glims From the Sporting Anvil

The Jersey City Club has handed First baseman Gill from the White Sox and also an infielder from the Cubs said to be a phenom. The latter's name is Joe Hamilton, whom Hal Chase has pronounced a star shortstop and who is to come to the New York Americans in due time if he shows the quality.

SWINE INDUSTRY IS DEVELOPING

Encouraging Report Presented by the Executive Meeting of Swine Breeders Association.

Calgary, April 5.—At the annual meeting of the Swine Breeders' Association, held last night, the following officers were chosen:

President, Lew Hutchinson, Du-hamel; first vice-president, W. F. Wybrock, Cochrane; secretary, E. L. Richardson, Calgary. Breed directors:

Durcey, Oscar Miller, Cheddar;

Beckwith, T. E. Bennett, High-

ville; Poland Chas. H. Quinn, Edmonton; Tamworth, J. Rye, of Dungaville; N. H. Sorenson, Mendocino.

General directors: K. A. Dal-gleish, of Fairby; James Tees,

Tees; Prof. Elliott, Stratmore; and Henry Jenkins, Pincher Creek.

The official report was of much interest.

The fat stock show, held in conjunction with the Alberta Live Stock

Association's events, April 5 to 8, 1909, was particularly satisfactory from the standpoint of entries, and the quality of the entire display was high. The number of entries during the past three years is as follows:

1907 ..... 17 entries.

1908 ..... 19 entries.

1909 ..... 57 entries.

Two and a half carloads of showed can be partly attributed to the decision of the Swine Breeders' Association in conjunction with the Swine Breeders' Association, to pay freight on all swine exhibits to the fat stock show from any part of Alberta and it is hoped that the continuation of this freight arrangement will increase the entries in connection with the forthcoming show. The competition was keen in a number of classes of the show, and particularly in the dressed carcass competitions.

The value placed on the first edition of the breeders' directory, published in

plications received at the office for the second edition. The first edition contained the names of 25 breeders, and owing to the increased interest in swine raising, the second directory contains the names of 225 breeders.

It is consequently far more complete and will be of greater value. A list of breeders of grade stock is also published, so that breeders of purebred stock who wish to make sales will have a fairly complete list of names to write to. Published with the directory is a diagram showing the location of points of the hog for the information more particularly of beginners in the swine industry. An article is also published with the directory written by W. F. Stevens, live stock commissioner for Alberta, giving timely hints to swine breeders.

The association wishes to express its appreciation of the financial and other assistance given by the Alberta and Dominion departments of agriculture to the association and the fat stock show.

The Man From Drodney's

By GEORGE BARR M'UTCHEON

Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead & Co.

"Love him—yes, I do love him!" cried the princess, casting rosy looks to the winds. "He knows it—every one knows it. But marry him! No—no! I shall marry Karl. My father, my mother, my grandfather, have said so, and I have said it too. That ends it, Agnes. Don't speak of it again." She cast herself down upon the side of the bed and clutched her hands in the throes of despair and decision.

After a moment Lady Agnes said: "I climbed up the ladder to make a 'badship' of myself by marriage, and I find I love my husband. I dare say you should go down the ladder a few rounds, my dear, you might be as lucky. But take my advice. If you won't marry Hilda, then, my dear, don't let him come to Paris."

The Princess Geneva lifted her face, instantly, a startled expression in her eyes.

"Agnes, you forget yourself!"

"My dear," murmured Lady Agnes, "forgive me, but I have much to be shocked about myself. She was asleep a moment later."

In the meantime Bobby Brown, still holding all commands and entreaties, refused to put to bed until he had related the story of their capture and the subsequent events that made the night memorable. He sat with his right arm about his wife's shoulders, Drusilla was knocking one of his hands off a half-conscious manner, her eyes staring past his face toward the dark forest from which he had come. Mr. Bett was collecting brandy for his trembling client.

"After all," said Brown, hoarse with nervousness, "there is some good to be derived from our experiences, and as it may be to believe, I have found out the means by which Russia intends to destroy every living creature in the chateau. Chuse threw off his spell of languor and looked hard at the speaker. "Russia coolly aimed me at one of our resting places if there had been any symptoms of poisoning among us. I mentioned Pegg and the servants. The devil caught me at my face and told me that it was but the beginning. I tell you, Chuse, we can't escape the diabolical scheme he has arranged. The water that comes to us from the springs up there in the hills is to be poisoned by those devils. I heard Russia giving instructions to one of his lieutenants. He thought I was still unconscious from a blow I received when I tried to interfere in behalf of Lady Agnes, who was being roughly dragged along the mountain road. Day and night a detachment of men are to be employed at the springs, directly engaged in the attempt to change the flow of pure water into a slow, subtle, deadly poison, the effects of which will not be immediately fatal, but positively so in the course of a few days. In the end we shall sicken and die as with the scourge. They will call it the plague."

A shudder of horror swept through the crowd. Every one looked into his neighbor's face with a profound inquiry in his eyes, seeking for the first time evidence of approaching death.

Hollingsworth Chase uttered a short, scornful laugh as he unconsciously lifted a match to one of his precious cigarettes. The others stared at him in amazement.

"Great God, Chase," groaned Brown, "is this a joke?"

"Yes, and it's on Russia," said the other hoarsely. "You say that Russia isn't aware of the fact that you uttered what he said to his men. Then, even now, in spite of your escape, he believes that we may go on drinking the water without in the least suspecting what it has in store for us. Good! That's why I say the joke is on him. Brown, you are a doctor, a chemist. Well, we'll distill and double and triple distill the water. That's all. A schoolboy might have thought of that. It's all right, old man. You're fagged out. Your brain isn't working well. Don't look so crestfallen. Mr. Britt, you and Mr. Saunders will give immediate instructions that no more water is to be drunk or used until Mr. Brown has had a few hours' rest. He is to take as alcohol bath, and we can all drink wine. It won't hurt us. At 10 o'clock sharp Dr. Brown will begin operating the distilling apparatus in the laboratory. By Jove, will you listen to the way my clients are making out there in the woods! They seem to be annoyed over something."

Outside the walls thelanders were shouting and calling to each other. Bells were cracking far and near, and in their peculiarly spiteful way they were shouting and calling to each other. As Chase ascended the steps Bobby Brown and his wife came up behind several. The most glorious one has asked her if she will not come with her."

"Solima," commanded the master solemnly, "don't repeat the gossip you pick up when I'm not around."

CHAPTER XXX.

THE TWO WOUNDS.

TWO days and nights crept slowly into the past, and now the white people of the chateau had come to the eve of their last day's stay on the island of Japan. The probationary period would expire with the sun on the following day, the anniversary of the death of V. W. Brown. The six months set aside by the testator as sufficient for all the requirements of Cupid were to come to an end on the 7th of October on March 29. According to the will, if Agnes Hilda and Robert Brown were not married to each other before the close of that day all of their rights in the estate were lost to them.

"Tomorrow will be the last day of our stay on the island of Japan. But, alas, what is it to be the last that they were to spend in the world forsaken land?"

No later than that morning a steamer—a small Dutch freighter—had come to a stop off the harbor, but it turned and fled within an hour. No one came ashore. The malevolent dog went out and turned back the landing party which was ready to leave the ship's side. The watchers in the chateau knew what it was that the tug's captain shouted through his trumpet at a safe distance from the steamer. The black and yellow flags at the end of the company's pier lent color to a gruesome story. The hopeless look deepened in the eyes of the watchers. Agnes Hilda and Robert Brown were not a stubborn pair of confidence and unsuccess.

"Don't be downhearted, Bowles," he said to the messenger. "You'll soon be managing the bank again and patronizing the American club with the same old regulars."

There had been one vicious assault upon the gates by the infuriated islanders during the day following the capture of the steamer. The force of the assault suddenly exerted itself to restore them to a state of calmness. They withdrew to the town, apparently defeated. The cause was obvious. Russia had convinced them that death was lifting his hand to blot out the lives of those who opposed them.

"My dear boy, it's most magnificent of you!" cried Chase merrily. "But I'm afraid you can't decide the question in such an offhand manner. Take good care of him, Mrs. Brown. Don't let him talk."

She held out her hand to him impulsively. As he gently lifted the old fingers to his lips she said, without taking her almost hungry gaze from his face: "Thank you, Mr. Chase. I shall never forget you."

He stood there looking after them as they went up the stairway, a puzzled expression in his face.

"It's queer," he'll be a good boy from now on." But he wondered what it was that he had seen or felt in her former gaze.

In fifteen minutes he was sound asleep in his room, his long frame relaxed, his hands wide open in utter fatigue. He dreamed of a Hesperid with Geneva's brilliant face instead of the vague, greenish features that haunt the vision with their subtle mysticism.

He was awakened at noon by Solima, who obeyed his instructions to the minute. The eager Arab rubbed the neck and stifles out of his master's body with copious applications of alcohol.

"I'm sorry you awake me, Solima," said the master elegantly. Solima drew back, dismayed. "You drove her away!" Solima's eyes blinked with wonder. "I'm afraid she'll never come back."

"Excellency!" trembled on the lips of the mystified servant.

"Ah, me!" sighed the master resignedly. "She smiled so divinely. Hesperid girls never smile, do they, Solima? Have you noticed that they are always queer? Perhaps you haven't. It doesn't matter. But this one smiled. I say, coming back to earth, have you been to drink the water? I've got a frightful thirst."

"Yes, excellency. The Sahib Brown is at work. One of the servants has come sick today. Now no one is drinking the water. Ballo is bringing in food from the storehouses and melting it, but the supply is low, excellency. Excuse me, you will take Solima to live with you in Paris?" he said after awhile wistfully. "I will be your slave."

"Paris? Who the dickens said anything about Paris?" demanded Chase, startled.

"Neeenah says you will go there to live, sahib. Does not the most glorious princess live in Paris?"

"Solima, you're being listening to gossip. It's a frightful habit to get into. Put cotton in your ears. But if I were to take you, what would become of the Neeenah?"

"Oh, Neeenah?" said Solima again. "If she would be a trouble to you, excellency, I can sell her to a man I know." Chase looked blackly at the eager Arab, who quailed.

"You miserable dog!"

Solima gasped. "Excellency!"

"Don't you love her?"

"Yes, yes, sahib—yes! But if she would be a trouble to you—no!" protested the Arab anxiously. Chase laughed as he came to appreciate the sacrifice his servant would become of him.

"I'll take you with me, Solima, wherever I go—and if I go—but, my lad, we'll take Neeenah along, too, to save trouble. She's not for sale, my good Solima." The husband of Neeenah radiated joy.

"Then she may yet be the slave of the most glorious princess! Allah is

SUNNY ALBERTA

Rev. George Howcroft, of High River, has been offered the rectorship of St. John's church, Finch Creek.

It is expected that the Ponoka asylum will be ready for occupation this autumn.

At the conclusion of the regular business of Star of the West Lodge, A.F. & A.M., Tuesday night, a banquet was held in honor of V. W. Brown. The six months set aside by the testator as sufficient for all the requirements of Cupid were to come to an end on the 7th of October on March 29. According to the will, if Agnes Hilda and Robert Brown were not married to each other before the close of that day all of their rights in the estate were lost to them.

W. H. LeRoy, manager of the Dominion Bank at High River, has been transferred to a branch of the bank in the city of Winnipeg.

The morning on April 1 witnessed the opening of the Medicine Hat land office; and the sight was indeed good to behold. About two men were lined up waiting for the doors to open. This was the first time since a scene was witnessed here. It will be repeated many a time, and surpassed whenever any special tract is thrown open for settlement. Medicine Hat citizens realized for the first time yesterday what the city has missed all day in not having a land office. Another bunch of about fifty land seekers arrived on the noon train, but more tickets could be given out than that day. These had to wait over till this morning. Today the scene was repeated, fully as many men being lined up waiting for the doors to open as yesterday. Undoubtedly the opening of the land office has been a blessing in the change which has come over the city and district. —Medicine Hat Times.

Barney Oldfield has lately been shattering all speed records that have ever been established, but the almost incredible speed he achieves in his big German automobile. Travelling at the rate of two miles a minute is a speed almost beyond comprehension and a vivid illustration of what tremendous speed means, will be given Empire patrons for the first three nights of this week opening with today's matinee.

Finckham and Company in their miles-minute ride in the motor-cycle have a unique offering and one that for danger is unequalled in vaudeville today. Mr. Finckham rides a motor-cycle in a lattice-work cage, erected at an 82-degree angle, at a minute pace. He makes fifteen revolutions of the cage in fifteen seconds—a quarter of a mile in a quarter of a minute. The motor-cycle weighs almost two pounds so he has to go at this terrific speed in order to maintain his equilibrium.

Jones, Grant, Jones and Company have a comedy offering that is simply a riot and these colored comedians will be one of the favorite numbers on the bill without a doubt.

Alice Finckham has been secured to take the place of one of the acts that played Calgary last week and will offer some of her favorite numbers.

Cullen Brothers, eccentric dancers, are said to be far above the average in their line. Their dancing is new and they ought to go like wild-fire here.

D. C. Rosebrook is a cornet soloist of the first class and as he will be the first to appear in the Empire he ought to make quite a record.

Edith Wall has a pretty illustrated song entitled "By the Light of the Silvery Moon," and the Empire Orchestra with some classy piece music and a swell overture will complete a bill which should draw big houses during its run.

Rev. H. L. Kempton, pastor of the Church of Christ, Vermilion, has resigned his charge.

TURKISH PRINCESS WILL NOT MARRY

Constantinople, April 11.—A daughter of Abdul Hamid, the deposed sultan, has won a victory for the cause of women's freedom in Turkey. Princess Chadye, who is only sixteen years old, was recently brought here from Salonika, where her father and his household are located, to be wedded to Namik Bey, son of the ex-grand vizier, with whom a marriage had been arranged for her. But the young princess, showing more spirit than most Turkish women, refused to marry a man she did not love.

Her protest against the marriage took the very modern form of writing to the newspapers saying she had not been consulted in the matter of her marriage, and was determined not to submit to a compulsory marriage. Her letter was published and the effect was to bring official notice to the press that the marriage would not take place. The authorities gave in to the princess' will in order to avoid a scandal.

There's Money In It

Gold and Silver came out of the ground, yet there is more money in it than ever came out—but not in the form of money. Good Real Estate today is yielding more fortunes than ever came out of a mine. We are dealers in Real Estate and buy, sell or exchange all kinds of city and country property. We shall be glad to do business with you, in any way.
